THR AFACHE INDIANS—HOTELS OF THE MEXICANS—RELIGIOUS MATERS—LYNCHING—TROUBLE WITH THE RED—EN ANTAIN AND THE MEXICANS Onto State Journal:—

Santa Fr., N. M., Nov. 30, 1853.

It may appear strange to many that there should be anything fascinating in living in a country where a person is deprived or nearly all the comforts to which he has been accustomed—where he knows that his rife is in continual danger. And yet there is a something aroused within him, after living in the mountains or on the prairies a few years, that renders him unhappy and discontented if he is any where else. It is probably the freedom from all restraint—the consciousness of being able to protect himself—the proud leeding of intependence, that constitutes the charm.

Although the Jicardias Apaches have more enamics among our own people than any other Indians, I have never, since I have known them, been un willing to trust my life with them. It is true, they are beggars; but they beg because they are poor and hungry, and no man ever went to their camp hungry that found them nawilling to divide their last morsel with him. It was near their country that some pastor boys, about two years ago, discovered small globules of quick-silver oozing up as it were from the ground, sliming, as they described it, like silver dew. They gathered it up in small vials, and knowing but little about its use, they kept it as a cunicisty to show their neighbors. An old Mexican woman told me she used it to put on the children's heads—and don't you think, said she, that it would'nt be there two minutes before the "piojos" would drop out as thick as bran." One of our youngsters, said she, was desirous of learning the taste of it, and be bad no sooner swallowed some of it than it went right through him presto! sailto!

Thicking quite likely it did, I did not stoo to argue the question with the old lady. Whether the ground leaft is extracted, or whether the rendence of the ground under rocks, in the tracks of an must, and when the sround beco under the protection of Bisbop Purcell, of Cincinnati. He leaves here in January, to make a tour in Eupope, where he goes after more help and more noney.

There are at present four Baptist missionaries lonted in different parts of the territory—Messralmith at Santa Fe, Reed at Albuquerque, Gorman it Laguna, and Shaw in the Navaju country—two fit the dist missionaries, Mr. Nichelson at Santa Fe, and Mr. Hanson at Turolote, and Padre, Cardenas. A lamentable fact, however, must be told, which is, that none of them have any professors of religion in their congregation, and I believe not a single member. These missionaries are all good men, labor with much zeal, and it is no fault of their's that members are not added to the church. Earb of them has schools, and all are alive to the importance of attending to the training of the rising generation.

The people of New Mexico pay no taxes, and will not tax themselves. There is not a dime in either the territorial or county treasuries, nor even a probability of ever being any. There is not a single jull strong enough to hold a prisoner, and only a short time ago some Mexican prisoners were confined on a charge of murder at Santa Fe. Becoming disgusted with the accommodations, they concluded to leave, and in a neatly written card to the Sheriff, they returned their thanks to him for his attention and watchfulness, trusting that circumstances might soon arise that would change their relative positions, and they would gladly reciprocate the many favors they had received at his hands. Taey escapel, and are still at liberty. Gov. Lane was placed in the predicament of either turning the prisoners loose, letting them stave, or advancing money out of his own pooket to feed them; he preferred the latter, and will probably have to pay for his humanity by losing all the money he advanced. Gov. Cahoun also suffered from the same cause.

Coming out from breakfast the other morning, I was rether surface at the Fonda, where a number of persons were engaged in playing cards, and while the deceased came to his death by strangulation, caused by hanging, by persons unknown." Nobody aid it! Mr. Smith, (by the way a giorious fellow,) in defiance of the doctors is in a fair way of recovery, and is worth a dozen dead men yet. How he escaped death is wonderful. The platol was a large dragoon revolver heavily loaded, fired within an arm's length, the bal striking him in the leit breast, making a hole as large as a quarter of a dollar, and lodging in his left arm. He is possibly reserved for a nigher end. Queen Sabe?

I fear we shall soon have trouble again with the White Mountain Apaches, a serious difficulty with them having as usual originated with the Mexicans. It seems that their most influential chief, Cuentus Azules, had visited Fort Fillmore with his family and a few of his people, to pay their respects to the Commandante at the Fort. While there, some Mexicans from the other side of the Rio Grande, living in the Messilia valley, came over and claimed a horse the chief was riding. The case was submitted to the officers of the fort for settlement, who decided the Mexicans had no right whatever to the horse. When the Indians left for home the Mexicans followed them, attacked Cuentus Azules, and beat his brains out with a club. His body was brought back to the fort, and decently buried. The other Indians fied, swearing vengeance, and they will have it; but who will be the victims, time will determine. I am afraid not the murderers. I had known this Indian for some time, as one of the very best men of his tribe. He had great influence over his people, and exerted it always to their best interest. This Messilla valley is getting to be the resort of all the vagabonds in the country, and they can commit their resclities with impunity, as the Mexican goverament will not, and the American government dare not, take them.

I am sorry to say that the small pox is prevailing to a great extent in the western part of the territory. One of the Pueblo villages of Moqui has been entirely depopulated. It has als

The Warre Works—The Board of Water Commissioners have made their semi-annual report, in which the progress of the water works, the condition of the finances of the board and the propect for the speady completion of the the works are shown. It contains also the estimate of Mr. Whiteel, their engineer of the work, by which it appears that about $120,000 are yet to be expended to complete the works. Unexpected delays on the work have occurred on account of the suckness of persons employed up in the mare by parts of the ground where work has been done. All of the irrn pipes have been delivered that were contracted for, and praify all of them have been laid. The receiving reservoir at Belleville, and the distributing reservoir at Bergen Hill, are in an almost completed condition. The pipe by dee and the inverted typhon at the Hackeniack bridge are completed, and will be suck to their pieces as soon as the margation of the Hackeniack closes for the season. The crection of the buildings at Belleville for the engine, has proved to be the most difficult and expensive part of the entire work. The buildings at searly completed, and the entire is nearly all there ready to be put up. The sum already expended by the board is $4500 186 f1—including the purchase of land, the simate upon which the work was undertaken. Altogether, at the end of the first year fiter water is introduced, it is expected that the water debt will not creed $600,000. An arrangement is in contemplition by which the spring will complete the laying of the pipe. In Jersey Guy, 122 bydratts have been set in brick boxes. Tas Bergen received will be ready for use early in the season. It is peciled that by the first of May next, at latest, three works will to complete the laying of the pipe. In Jersey Guy, 122 bydratts have been set in brick boxes. Tas Bergen received will be upon the first year fiter water is introduced, the scale of the pi

BURNT TO DEATH IN THE PRAINIES.—Charles Iswis, son of Warrar Lewis, Eq., Surveyor General of lova, lost his life a short time since in a most distressing manner. He was out surveying with Anderson's company, near Sergeant's Bluff, on the Missouri river, when the prairie was discovered to be on fire. Every exertion was made to escape, but in vain. Mr. Anderson was dangerously burned, and young Lewis was so much is jured that he died from the effects of the burns. He is said to have been a most estimable young man.—St. Louis Equidican, Dec 31.

A violent assault, with an attempt to commit a raye on the person of Alice Stapleton was perpetrated a few avenings since bytwo persons named John Waldron and William Hanson both of whom have been arrested by officer Brake, of the Eighth ward. KINGS COUNTY COURT OF SESSIONS—ACQUITTAL OF MOSS AND DONOVAN.—These parties, who were indicated on the charge of manifestation in the fourth degree, for causing the death of Cornelius McCue, in a fight on the corner of Van Brunt and Degraw atreets, on the 22d of October last, were placed on trial in the King: County Court of Sec were placed on trial in the Kings County Court of Sessions, Judge Moore presiding, on Wednesday. The evidence in regard to the facts of the afray, and death of McCue, was substantially the same as that adduced on the preliminary investigation. Additional evidence was brought forward, however, to prove the characters of the accused, which went to show that both the young men sustained excellent reputations for good coadust and sobriety previous to the unfortunate occurrence for which they were indicted, and which appeared to have much weight in their favor with the jury. The summing up of occursel for prisoners occupied two and a half hours, in which he held that the homicide was justifiable within the meaning of the statute bearing upon the subject. The Court seemed inclined to this view in the charge to the jury, who, after about one hour's consultation, brought in a verdict of not guilty. The trial occupied three days.

A Chinese Proclamation Relative to Foreign Coin.

The following proclamation of Hoo and Le, magistrates of the districts of Pwanyu and Manhae, in China, issued by order of the Yeh, imperial Commissioner, Governor General of the Two Kwang, &c., &c. and a copy of which has been transmitzed to the State Department at Washington by D. N. Spooner, acting United distance Consul at Canton, is published for the information of those whom it nay concern. It is understood that all dollars, whether of old or new coinage, are to circulate among merchants and cealers in one uniform mose, and in the same way as old Spanish collars have hitherto done.

Proclamation is to make known to all merchants, desiers, linguisus, and others, the following decree:—In your mercantile operations with the English merchants, take no regard of the devices of the dollars that pass through your hands, whether they be those of eagles or horser, of flowers or of plants; for, if the coins be not inferior in point of purity, they are permitted to circulate at the same rate as the dollars with flowery millings. Therefore you should not, in consequence of any preconceived opinions, demand on them a discount, tand thus occasion still further disputation on this head. But if you meet with any dollars of inferior quality, the intrinsic value of which you cannot accurately determine, no objections can be made to your satisfying yourselves on this point, by melting one or two of the doubtful pieces and comparing them with the broken or old dollars. At present, it is permitted to trade dollars in payment of the patriotic onstitutions which continue to be unremittingly collected in this province; but in future the treasury will be guided in the receipt of dollars solely by their purity; and, without raising any question as to their form or pattern, will receive those bearing devices of eagles, horses, flowers, or plants, at one and the same rate as those
